Information Classification Guidelines

Purpose

Florida State University takes seriously its obligation to respect and protect the privacy of its students, alumni, faculty and staff, as well as to safeguard the confidentiality of information important to the University's academic and research mission.

By classifying information at Florida State University, we take the first step toward identifying information that should be protected based on University policies and applicable state and federal laws. Understanding the classification and value of University information provides the intelligence necessary for faculty, staff and administration to determine the most cost effective and appropriate level of protection as part of a risk based approach to security and privacy controls implementation.

Information classification supports:

- Compliance with legal and regulation requirements;
- Mapping information protection levels with organizational needs;
- Efficient budgeting by implementing controls where they are needed the most;
- Reducing risks associated with the unauthorized access and disclosure of University protected or private information.

All University information, regardless of the format or medium of the record (paper, electronic information/voice/video/image, microfilm, etc.), should be classified into one of three sensitivity levels categories:

Level 1 - Protected
Level 2 - Private
Level 3- Public

Reclassification

Campus units should periodically reevaluate information classifications to ensure the delegated classification is still appropriate. Changes to laws and rules, contractual obligations, or how certain information is used can result in modification to the information's value to the University and its classification. Appendix B contains University and other resources to assist in this process.

Direct-Support Organizations

Groups defined as Direct-Support Organizations (DSO) under Florida Statute 1004.28 should consult their legal counsel for classification assistance. DSO's are considered a Florida corporation not for profit incorporated under the provisions of chapter 617 and are exempt from the Florida Statute 119 Public Records requirements. Information items classified as "Private" for FSU should have elevated privacy status for a DSO.

Classification Description: Level 1 – Protected

The Protected classification encompasses information deemed confidential under federal or state law or rules, FSU contractual obligations, or privacy considerations such as the combination of names with respective Social Security Numbers. Protected information requires the highest level of safeguarding protection.

Criteria used to classify FSU information as “Level 1 - Protected” include:

- a) Disclosure exemptions - Information maintained by the University that is exempt from disclosure under the provisions of Florida Statutes 119.071.
- b) Severe or catastrophic risk - Information whose unauthorized access or modification will result in substantial reputational, financial, or research impairment to FSU and its information stakeholders.
- c) Limited use - Information intended solely for use within FSU and limited to those with a “business need-to know.”
- d) Legal Obligations - Information for which laws, rules, regulations, or contractual obligations dictate specific security and privacy controls to safeguard information, restrict access, or limit transmission (See Appendix B for examples of legal or contractual obligations for select University information).

See Appendix A for examples of Level 1 – Protected information

Classification Description Level 2 - Private

The Private classification encompasses information for which the unauthorized disclosure may have moderate adverse effects on the university's reputation, resources, services, or individuals.

Criteria used to classify FSU information as “Level 2 – Private” include:

- a) Information which is not specifically protected by legal or contractual mandates but for which unauthorized access or modification could cause financial loss, damage to FSU’s reputation, violate an individual’s privacy rights, or make legal action necessary.
- b) Limited use – Private information intended for internal FSU use or shared with select outside entities to facilitate research or business functions.

Note: Under Florida Statute Chapter 119, Public Records, information classified Private may be subject to personal inspection and copying.

See Appendix A for examples of Level 2 – Private information

Classification Description Level 3 - Public

The Public classification encompasses information for which disclosure to the public poses negligible or no risk to the University's reputation, resources, services, or individuals. This is the default classification, and should be assumed when there is no information indicating that information should be classified as private or protected. In addition, certain legislation may specify select information as public.

Criteria used to classify FSU information as “Level 3 - Public” include:

- a) Information designated as publically available and/or intended to be provided to the public.
- b) Disclosure of this information does not expose FSU to financial loss or jeopardize the security of information assets or the physical security of those associated with the University.

See Appendix A for examples of Level 3 – Public information

APPENDIX A – DATA CLASSIFICATION EXAMPLES

The following are select examples by type to facilitate uniformity in the classification process. Use the criteria defined in each category for information items not found within these lists. Engage the Information Security and Privacy Office for assistance with classification issues.
